

CUMBERLAND FALLS STATE RESORT PARK

800.325.0063

Located in southern Kentucky, the historic Dupont Lodge is perched high above the Cumberland River, which rushes over a boulder-strewn gorge to form the 125-foot-wide cascade known as Cumberland Falls, or the “Niagara of the South.” The distinctive lodge, with massive hemlock beams, stone fireplaces and knotty pine paneling, offers plenty of areas just off the lobby for networking, activities or relaxing. Two conference rooms for small groups are located within the lodge and have large windows with breathtaking views of the park.

What is a Moonbow?

A moonbow is the interaction between the mist refracting light from the moon. It is usually visible about an hour after nightfall beginning two nights before a full moon.
